Other Resources

The Coalition for the Advancement of Medical Research
(http://www.camr.org)
The AAN belongs to this multidisciplinary organization of over 100 medical, scientific and patient-advocacy groups dedicated to promoting broader stem-cell research in the U.S.

National Academies: Human Embryonic Stem Cell Research Advisory Committee
(http://dels.nas.edu/bls/stemcells/)
The National Academies convened an Advisory Committee that released widely commended scientific and ethical guidelines in 2005 on best practices for stem-cell research.

National Conference of State Legislatures: State Embryonic and Fetal Research Laws
(http://www.ncsl.org/programs/health/genetics/embfet.htm)
NCSL—the AAN’s partner in a 2006 primer on stem cell research—tracks relevant state laws at this site.

National Institutes of Health (NIH) Stem Cell Information Page
(http://stemcells.nih.gov)
The NIH maintains a comprehensive collection of information on all forms of stem-cell research, as well as federal policies on the issue.